Test tickets drawn

HUNDREDS of local residents have the chance to experience the atmosphere of a 2012 arena after the draw for the free Olympic test event tickets took place last week.

There was a huge response to the ballot which was announced in GT last month.

Up for grabs were passes to the Olympic handball and Paralympic goalball events which are taking place in the Olympic Park. Winners will be among the first spectators to enter the state-of-the-art arena.

The events are taking place later this month and in December after Greenwich Council secured hundreds of the free tickets which GT readers were invited to apply for.

Successful applicants have now been contacted following the draw, and winners will be able to pick up their tickets from the town hall in Woolwich this week.

The tickets to the paid events in which local residents could get early access to booking lines were also oversubscribed.

In my opinion

Learn to take the weight off our backs

AS an osteopath I am concerned about children and overloaded school bags. October 17-23 was Back Care Awareness week and Back Care, the prominent charity organisation, along with the British Osteopathic Association (BOA), are aiming to raise awareness about the potential ill effects of children carrying heavy school bags each day. As a member of the BOA, I would like to share some information regarding children and their bags. Heavy bags put pressure on the discs between the vertebrae, which can cause long term back pain in small and still-developing bodies. Children can also suffer muscular pain, headaches, tingling and numbness in the arms and legs and even mobility problems. Potential long-term effects may include: strains to the neck and shoulders resulting in headaches and early development of poor posture. As a general rule, I would advise that children should never carry more than 15% of their own body weight in their bag. Parents can help by packing their children's bags and by making sure the heavier items are placed nearer to the child's back. Placing heavier items on the outside can disturb the child's centre of gravity, leading to bad posture, and increasing their chances of straining their back.

A few other useful pointers:
- It is best to use a backpack rather than other types of bags, as it will avoid straining one shoulder alone, but even a backpack should not be overloaded.
- Buy a sturdy bag with wide and adjustable shoulder straps

- Check your child's posture with the bag on. Make sure the child is not slouching or leaning forward.
- Make sure only necessary items are in the bag.
- Encourage your child to use their locker to its full capacity for any items they do not need to carry to and fro between school and home. Follow these simple guidelines and you can help to ensure your child does not suffer with discomfort from problem.

New Urgent Care Centre opens at QEH

PATIENTS in Greenwich have an alternative to A&E when the new Urgent Care Centre opens at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital next month. The new UCC was running as a pilot but it opens on December 1 with funding secured for the next three years. The centre can treat people with health problems which are urgent but not life threatening, such as cuts, sprains, bruises or severe stomach pains. It will be staffed by doctors and nurses with experience of emergency care and means reduced waiting times for patients needing urgent treatment. It will be run by the Hurley Group, a group of GP practices which manages practices and walk-in centres across London. Dr Chris Streather, the chief executive of the South London Healthcare NHS Trust, said: "A revamped and fully functioning Urgent Care Centre at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital is excellent news for patients with minor injuries while removing some pressure from A&E for people with more serious conditions." The UCC should only be used by patients with urgent needs who can't wait for an appointment to see their GP. Patients' first port of call if they are unwell should still be their GP. The NHS Direct advice line is also available 24 hours-a-day on 0845 4647.

Barn booster!

Everything to play for in new community garden

by Dick Townsend-Smith

RESIDENTS on the Barnfield Estate in Woolwich can now enjoy a new play area, community garden and fitness trail.

It was opened by Mayor of Greenwich Jim Gillman, on November 5, when the community celebrated with arts and crafts, a bouncy castle and games as well as free health checks and a community feast.

The event was also attended by Cllr John Fahy, the council's cabinet member for culture and the Olympics, as well as supermodel Natalia Vodianova, founder of the Naked Heart Foundation, which part-funded the redevelopment.

Other funders were Greenwich Council, Well London, the Big Lottery, Marks & Spencer and environmental charity Groundwork.

Rahman Famuiditimi, who is chair of the Friends of Barnfield, said: "This is a major achievement for the community. This is a space for children, young people and the older generation to use, a space where the community can meet to play, socialise and interact with the outdoors.

"This will impact on people's general well-being and the community will grow from strength to strength in a renewed sense of pride for the environment."

The project began as a Well London initiative, working in deprived areas of the capital to improve people's health and wellbeing.

Funding from M&S has enabled Groundwork to work with the Friends of Barnfield to redevelop the estate's open space so people can use it for rest, recreation and getting to know each other. The new facilities also include outdoor fitness equipment.

ONLY TWO CAN PLAY: two youngsters take straight away to the new facilities at Barnfield Gardens

COMMUNITY FEELING: tenants get out to enjoy the new facilities

London will continue to help residents develop their gardening skills so they can help maintain the space.

Groundwork community programme manager Sarah Smith said: "We hope that everyone will use the space to keep fit and active, to relax and hold community events and that the children enjoy their new play area."

KEEPING WATCH: one little lad makes sure you know the password before entering

This is a space for children, young people and the older generation to use, where the community can meet to play and socialise outdoors

Remembrance Weekend marked in Greenwich

REMEMBRANCE Day was marked in a series of events across Greenwich last weekend.

The leader of Greenwich Council, the mayor and local MPs joined local members of the Royal British Legion in laying wreaths and observing silences to remember those who have served and lost their lives in past conflicts.

Veterans visited memorials at Plumstead Cemetery before moving on to the New Woolwich Cemetery on the morning of November 12.

Silences were also observed at St. Johns Church, and the memorial in Charlton Village, and Cemetery Lane.

On Sunday November 13, a morning remembrance service organised by the Abbey Wood and Thamesmead British Legion took place at St Michael's and All Angels Church, on Abbey Wood Road.

The council's leader Chris Roberts, and Greenwich mayor Jim Gillman were at the Remembrance Day parade organised by the Eltham and Well Hall British Legion. The parade included war veterans, ex-service groups and youth organisations, with a wreath laying ceremony at Eltham War Memorial and a two-minute silence. This was then followed by a remembrance service in St. John's Church, Eltham Hill.

Cllr Roberts told GT: "It's incredibly important that we remember and commemorate those who have served and lost their lives, both as soldiers and on the home front in wars in this Country's history. Our borough has strong links to the military through the Royal Barracks, and was of course targeted during the Blitz in the Second World War – causing loss of life for local civilians as well."

"These ceremonies and parades are poignant reminders of the tremendous sacrifice of our armed forces and I'm glad that it was honoured in so many places across the borough."

SILENCE: tributes were paid at the Remembrance Day parade in Eltham by veterans and councillors (above and left). Pipers played (bottom), and inset, memorial tributes.

Correction

THE verse quoted in the page 1 story last week (Remembering their sacrifice, Nov 15), was the fourth verse of 'For the Fallen' and not from Exhortation as was stated.

Thanks to Captain John Freestone for pointing this out.

Schoolboy's moving tribute

NINE-YEAR-OLD Donavan Eaton-Scott wrote a moving poem in honour of those who lost their lives in World War One.

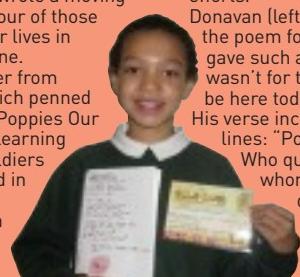

The youngster from East Greenwich penned the tribute, 'Poppies Our Hope,' after learning about the soldiers who perished in WWI.

He was given a gold award by his school, Foxfield Primary for his efforts.

Donavan (left), told GT: "I wrote the poem for the soldiers who gave such a big sacrifice. If it wasn't for them we might not be here today."

His verse includes the powerful lines: "Poppies shall bloom, Who questions their love whom, War equals destruction. "Flanders Field God shines upon."

Rockliffe Gardens Consultation Opens

Greenwich residents are invited to give their views on the suggested improvements to Rockliffe Gardens in Plumstead. The Council proposed a scheme of improvements to the gardens, culminating in a design developed in partnership with the local community.

A consultation on the design is being undertaken by environmental regeneration charity Groundwork London for a period of six weeks.

The design is open to consultation until 12 December 2011 and everyone is invited to give their views. Proposals can be seen and commented upon online at www.groundwork.org.uk/london. The consultation documents are also on display for comment at Slade Library, The Slade Centre, Erindale, SE18 2QQ.

Rockliffe was opened in 1937 as formal gardens and included terraces, water features, an ornamental pond and a woodland walk.

Proposed improvements include a new pedestrian entrance into the park from the cemetery, seasonal bulb planting, woodland play zones with natural features and a managed woodland area.

Countdown to Christmas

Greenwich town centres are getting ready for Christmas by switching on the festive lights and laying on late night shopping and special offers. GT investigates...

Retail therapies in Woolwich - p6-7

SUPPORT from Greenwich Council and the government has helped local shops get back on their feet after the August disturbances. Now as Woolwich town centre prepares for the busiest time of year, the council is urging residents to support local shops where they will find a special range of goods, services and seasonal treats. DICK TOWNSEND-SMITH took a walk through Woolwich as retailers open their doors to the first throng of festive shoppers

BUSINESSES in Woolwich are all gearing up for the Christmas rush. And with barely four shopping weeks left, they are going all out to make the most of the busiest trading time of the year.

But few would have thought that the town could have got back on its feet so quickly and so enthusiastically after the August disturbances. Many shops, pubs and restaurants were smashed, damaged, and in several cases, totally burnt out.

The lucky ones were able to start trading again quickly after making emergency repairs. The fire-ravaged Wilkinson store in Woolwich New Road was back in business after just five days – a tribute to the Wilkinsons' staff from all over the South East who volunteered to come in and help with the clean-up.

Supporting their determination to win through was the High Street Recovery Scheme, which gave many businesses vital financial help at the time they needed it most.

Greenwich received one of the largest shares of the support fund from the government. It was in recognition that the borough had been one of the worst to be hit.

The government money was administered by Greenwich Council, which has handed out £300,000 to businesses under the High Street Fund.

In all, the council's applications panel gave the green light to 22 applications for help.

Those who had financial support included Abbey Plumbing, Heating and Electrical Supplies in Eltham. And, those in Woolwich which received support included Manna Superstores, the Wimpy, Cash Converter, and Broadway Shoes.

Also supported was Charles Dance jewellers and pawnbrokers in Hare Street. Raj Bhura, who runs the shop with his brother Dipesh, were delighted with how the council had helped them. Raj said: "We didn't expect it to be so quick."

WELL DONE: councillors join staff at the re-opening of the Wilkinson store just five days after the disturbances

We thought that we would be expected to fill in lots of forms and make lots of phone calls, but council staff were quick to act and always stayed in contact with us." The brothers used the money to pay for replacing the windows and frames at the front of the shop, and also for replacing looted stock.

Around 60 businesses received advice on how to claim from the High Street Recovery Scheme and other firms in the borough which needed help or advice were able to contact the council's business team.

To celebrate that Woolwich was well and truly on the mend, the council also organised a Back to Business week in September. Shoppers and visitors flocked to the town to see special attractions and entertainments, while shops, market stalls, restaurants, pubs and businesses offered discounts and bargains.

Now, traders are looking forward to the Christmas peak. Raj Gadher runs the Avery Truman DIY store in Thomas Street, Woolwich, which had been a DIY store for 29 years when he took over four years ago.

"We sell ironmongery, locks and keys, and we're preparing for Christmas by having 30,000 brochures sent out," said Raj whose wife Jag manages the Avery Truman Home Hardware store in Eltham Arcade, which the couple took over in 2002. Cllr Denise Hyland, Greenwich Council's cabinet member for regeneration, enterprise and skills, said: "There's no doubt that Woolwich recovered dramatically from what happened in August, helped by the various initiatives the council put in place and supported.

"It was an astonishing tribute to all the dedicated and hard-working people we have in this town.

"As the festive season begins to get under way, I'd urge everyone to support their local shops. Woolwich is on the up, and well worth a visit with new businesses planning to move in, and established ones heading towards an even more successful future."

Rudolf's coming to town!

TRADING GEMS: brothers Raj and Dipesh Bhura at the Charles Dance jewellers on Hare Street, left, business owners get advice and information about the support available to them under the High Street Recovery Scheme

WOOLWICH is set to launch the festive season in style on Saturday, December 10, when reindeer will be paying a visit to General Gordon Square.

Along with them will be street entertainers and stalls selling food and crafts. A display of owls is also being planned. And it's in the planning that a Christmas treat of a mince pie and a hot chocolate will be given to anyone who can show a receipt from a Woolwich shop or market stall.

The town's new Christmas lights are set to be switched on for the first time, and the shops and the market will be offering great ideas for Christmas, gifts and bargains galore. The Woolwich Winter

Warmer kicks off on Saturday, December 10, as part of the town's hugely-successful 'Back to Business' initiative. Between 1pm and 6pm there will be stage entertainments, fairground rides, and games featuring the Big Screen.

A military band is due to march through the square at 6.30pm on Wednesday, December 15 and late-night shopping will carry on until 8pm. The fun continues between December 12 and 17, with more fairground rides, a mini Christmas market and singing from local choirs.

Let there be lights!

Eltham town centre heralds the festive season with lantern parade

ELTHAM led the borough's countdown to the festive season with the traditional switch-on of the town's Christmas lights, followed by an evening of fun and festivities.

It all kicked off at 4pm last Thursday afternoon (November 17) when the High Street was closed off to traffic and the town centre was transformed into a magical land of lights and colours. Hundreds of school children took part in a spectacular lantern-lit procession, while there were live music, street entertainers, and special effects.

There were performances by Crown Woods School Band and Gospel Choir, followed by the Eltham Choral Society.

Eltham Fire Station also held an event for shoppers, and many High Street stores stayed open until late. Making the evening truly festive were Christmas-themed stalls selling produce and crafts in Passey Place. On the previous Saturday, locals took the opportunity to learn how to make a lantern for the procession at a community workshop at St Mary's

PACKED STREETS:

Thursday's procession

Community Centre. It was run by local arts organisation Emergency Exit Arts, which worked with 12 schools and the Park Methodist Church to make this year's procession the best ever. The theme was Eltham's heritage, drawing on local historical sites like Eltham Palace and Well Hall Pleasance for inspiration.

The big 'switch on' marked the beginning of what is traditionally the busiest time of the year for shops and businesses. Eltham Arcade in particular looks set to be a favourite with shoppers, with a wide range of gift ideas available in the small, independent shops.

Home furnishing store Turners & Mason has stylish items on show, as does the newly-opened children's boutique BebeBonito next door.

Avery Truman, which is the town's oldest store, sells a wide range of goods for the home and garden and has just launched its Christmas range.

At the far end of the arcade RCD Prints can frame or mount photos and artwork, which make ideal Christmas gifts.

There's more furnishing gift ideas just outside the arcade in the High Street where Oaks Furniture and Sansfairyanne next door have a wide range of gift ideas.

Other stores in the town centre are planning Christmas offers and extended opening times.

Debenhams offered discounts of up to 40 per cent in its Christmas Spectacular last week, and is planning to have similar promotions in December.

• For more information about Christmas events in Eltham visit the town's web portal www.aceltham.co.uk

Greenwich set for festive celebrations

GREENWICH launches its Christmas festivities officially next Wednesday (November 30) with a lights and lantern parade by the town's schoolchildren. The procession will start at 4pm in front of the Discover Greenwich Visitor Centre at the Old Royal Naval College, and be led by the Sea Scouts band, winding its way to Greenwich Market.

The big countdown begins at 4.30pm. The Christmas lights switch-on will be led by characters from this year's Greenwich Playhouse panto Aladdin, the Mayor Cllr Jim Gillman – and a surprise guest. People can then join in singing Christmas carols, meet Father Christmas in his Greenwich Grotto and shop late until 7pm.

Santa will also be 'at home' in his grotto on Saturday and Sunday, December 17 and 18, and again on Christmas Eve. His funny elf will treat the children to magic and balloon fun while they wait their turn to talk to Santa and collect their Christmas gift bag. There's a craft workshop for children at the Clore Learning Centre at the Old Royal Naval College on Monday and Tuesday, November 28 and 29. Designers from Greenwich Market will show youngsters how to make cards, gift boxes, and window and tree decorations.

Children must be accompanied by an adult. It costs £4.50 per child, and is suitable for ages seven and over. To book call 020 8269 4799 or e-mail boxoffice@ornic.org.

Greenwich Market Christmas Craft Market will be open from Tuesday to Sunday through to Sunday December 11 and then open seven days a week through to Christmas Eve. The market is closed on Christmas Day but reopens on Boxing Day.

There is also a market outside the church at St Alfege at weekends between November 26 and Christmas Eve. Check www.shopgreenwich.co.uk for more details.

HAVING THEIR SAY: Greenwich business-owners give their views about traffic management proposals during Games time

SHOPKEEPERS and business owners are being asked for their views on plans to route traffic around Greenwich during the Olympic games as part of a major consultation.

It follows a series of drop-in sessions at Devonport House in King William Walk, when residents were asked to give their views on how Games organisers LOCOG think transport and traffic should be managed during Games time.

Now it's the turn of the business community, and last week, Greenwich Council officers made in-person calls, knocking on the doors of hundreds of shops and businesses in both Greenwich and East Greenwich. The idea was to seek face-to-face reactions to the proposals already announced.

Questionnaire leaflets were dropped off, and this week council staff have been making return visits so they can log people's views, and explain anything that isn't clear.

Although no more consultation events are planned for residents at the moment, the council still wants to hear what people think. To see the full plans visit www.tinyurl.com/3zpl75g then visit www.greenwich.gov.uk/haveyoursay before next Wednesday, November 30.

"We really need to know what both residents and the business community feel about what has been suggested," said Cllr Chris Roberts, the Leader of Greenwich Council. "We will use people's views to help us inform TfL and LOCOG in their decision-making, and use them to lobby the other parties involved if we feel changes are needed. So please let us have your view as soon as possible."

The London Games are set to have a huge impact on travel in the borough, affecting both private and public transport as thousands of athletes, Games officials and visitors pour into the borough. The council and LOCOG are working with Transport for London and the Olympic Delivery Authority to agree an integrated transport plan for the three Olympic venues in the borough.

The council's Planning Board is due to consider all of LOCOG's plans for the borough when it meets in January. Following this informal consultation stage, there will be formal statutory consultation to help decide what traffic management orders will be required.

The final decision on LOCOG's proposals does not rest with Greenwich Council, and the council is urging as many people as possible to feed in their views. People can also e-mail their comments to traffic.management@greenwich.gov.uk or write to GT Traffic Consultation, Town Hall, Wellington Street, London SE18 6PW before November 30.

Meanwhile, consultation events are being planned for January at Woolwich Royal Artillery Barracks and the North Greenwich Arena (the O2). These will be for residents and businesses who may be affected by the Olympic Shooting and Archery events at the barracks and other events at The O2.

LOCOG and council staff will be on hand to explain the traffic suggestions and answer queries.

Traders asked to give their views on Olympic traffic plans

Greenwich Council's initial view	Who makes the decision? The Council's Planning Board will comment upon all the proposals, but the final decision will be taken by the following parties
1 We understand the need for the temporary widening in Greenwich High Road and College Approach	1 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
2 We understand the logic of pedestrianising Greenwich Church Street	2 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
3 We understand that the temporary pedestrianisation proposals require this system	3 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
4 The case has not been fully made for Straightsmouth and the proposals require detailed local engagement	4 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
5 We accept the temporary pedestrianisation proposals require re-routing of bus services	5 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
6 We believe that the temporary one way system creates a vacant lane for taxis in Creek Road to avoid the need for this proposal	6 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
7 The case has not been made for the removal of parking in Park Row	7 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
8 We are concerned that the £200 fine (discounted to £100 if paid within 14 days) is a potentially insufficient deterrent to protect local businesses	8 The level of fines will be set by London Councils. Greenwich has one of 33 votes
9 We believe this requires discussion with relevant local residents	9 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council
10 The case has not been made for the removal of the parking bays	10 The Olympic Act gives TfL/LOCOG power to impose this upon the Council

Please visit www.tinyurl.com/3zpl75g then go to www.greenwich.gov.uk/ before November 30 to give your views on the plans. Or you can write to: Town Hall, Wellington Street, London, SE18 6PW.

Carroll's singing is early gift

SILKEN-VOICED singer LIANE CARROLL launched Greenwich Jazz with a mesmerising, magical and soul-stirring performance at the Tudor Barn in Eltham.

The festival which ran from Nov 11-20 was the last in 2011's Greenwich Festivals, the season of events laid on across the borough in partnership with Greenwich Council.

When Liane took the stage with quiet grace, the 150-strong crowd fell silent. She began with an interpretation of the Tom Waits ballad, Take Me Home, following it with the Peggy Lee classic, He's a Tramp. Carroll's talent is natural, unassuming and unpretentious. Her playing appeared effortless. She started playing piano at three years old, a concert pianist was her tutor.

LOST IN MUSIC: Liane Carroll was a treat for the ears

"Did you ever mind practising?" I asked her before the show.

"Only as I got older and saw my mates playing out," she said. They were hours well spent. Her timing is crisp, her phrasing is tight and her rhythm absolutely perfect.

The second half of the show was as enchanting as the first, with Laura Nyro's He's a Runner and Carole King's You've Got a Friend, showcasing the power and range of Liane's chocolate-toned voice. Another ballad from Waits - Picture in a Frame - was charged with such emotional intensity that it had the audience close to tears.

She closed with Dublin Morning, a tender song of her own, which was dedicated to her husband, bassist Roger Carey, and in memory of her Irish-born father. Simply sublime.

Young movie-makers set for film fest

Yes we Cannes

A PAIR of film-makers from Woolwich are jetting off to Cannes to showcase an independent movie filmed in the borough. Graduates from the University of Greenwich, Adam El Sharawy and Alex Frois spent two years producing Evidence of Existence. They hope to make a big splash at the international film festival and bag a distribution deal.

"We are aiming for Cannes - that's the big one," Adam told Scene. "There's a whole bunch of different international festivals we will take it to: Raindance, the Berlin Film Festival, Sundance in America, and Toronto."

Evidence of Existence is a 'multiple narrative drama' - it's about characters whose separate worlds collide.

"The film explores the human condition," Adam, 23, added. "There's a bunch of characters of different ages who all have their own lives and they inadvertently affect each other - like the chaos theory." The film cost just £1,200 to produce, and the pair shared roles of writer, director and editor.

"When there is only a crew of three, you all end up doing everything," Adam said.

EoE is a critique of modern society, it examines the desire within people to leave a mark on the world. It delves into the story of two malcontent actors, a curmudgeonly film director and an agoraphobic nihilist.

"It's almost like a sequence of short films," the director added. "As you get further and further into the movie the cutting gets quicker and quicker and all of a sudden it has crept up into the final conclusion."

The duo were finishing film courses at the University of Greenwich as they began shooting on location around SE10. Alex, 24, said: "Greenwich Theatre and Poet's Corner in the park were the locations where all of the characters collide together.

"We also shot in Oliver's Jazz Bar and the Rivington." There were difficulties along the way - actors not turning up, locations falling through - which meant the pair had to improvise on occasion.

"The most difficult thing about being independent filmmakers is having the time and money to do things the way you want to," Alex said.

Adam added: "We had to change the storyline a few times when actors didn't turn up, but I think in the end it has made it a better film."

Evidence of Existence is slated for a January release in the UK, before the pair head off to the festivals to get the film maximum exposure.

Alex said: "It was a lot of hard work, and a learning experience, and we expected things to go wrong and for it maybe to not have looked that great. But once you spend a year on something you start to realise there isn't any room for error. We're really proud of the way it's turned out."

A chance to chill out this winter?

Calm down dear, it's a relaxation CD

GREENWICH lass Kate Jaconello has released a CD that looks set to relax even the most highly-strung personalities.

Earth and Sky is a 12-track album with a mix of mellow and super-mellow tones. The first track, Serenity starts off with a humming and a light chanting vocal. The laid-back melody eventually reaches a higher climax at the end of the song.

Later on, Beauty has a charming, innocent aura to it that reflects its name with subtle changes of pace and in the keys and percussion.

It has an almost hypnotic quality. Peace is one of the most simplistic tracks of the album with no vocal, just instruments. It is beautifully executed with viola, piano and harp-like tones throughout. It changes pace pleasingly across a meandering duration.

Title track Earth and Sky has the strongest vocals. It is uplifting and poetic with lyrics about change and looking into oneself. If you are someone who is looking for chillout music, winding down and letting off steam, EaS is an album that can be pleasantly placed in the background behind the chaos of everyday life.

It is melodic and the instrumental undertones arouse different feelings as each track ascends and descends because of the way the different scores are delivered. They increase in speed and intensity and then they calm. Some tracks have more vocals and one or two have none. The tracks are adequately named with religious or spiritual connotations: Peace, Believe, Grace, Hope, Discovery.

The album displays the catalogue of sensory emotions these different words express.

If this type of calm, tranquil music isn't your cup of tea then it's best to steer clear as it could have the opposite effect. But for anyone with a hectic lifestyle who might need help to unwind, this record will be a welcome tonic.

Greenwich Council's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 263

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the Council's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed.

Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to:

For properties advertised for band A and band B -
the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time.
For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

Band

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the council must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

1 First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, get an application form by phoning the Access and Allocations Section on 020 8921 2941. Or pick up a form from any neighbourhood office.

Find your applicant number

2 It will be on the letter you've already had from the Council about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.greenwich.gov.uk/homes

3 Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free in either your neighbourhood housing office, library or UK Online centre.

Apply in one of two ways

- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Council's website

www.greenwich.gov.uk/homes

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available on Wednesday 30 November 2011 at midday and will include any Housing Association properties when available. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on *Sunday 27 November 2011

Fewer Bands A&B priority applicants have been bidding for advertised properties in recent weeks.

Please note that if you do not bid on a regular basis you risk losing your priority status.

Please contact the office if you need help in bidding.

Small is beautiful the Under Occupation scheme

If you are living in a Council property that is too big for you, we can help you to move to somewhere smaller.

The Council will pay your removal costs, and £350 for each bedroom gained.

To join the scheme you must be willing to move to a home with two bedrooms less than you have now:

- 3 bedroom to a 1 bedroom home
- 3 bedroom parlour/4 bedroom to a 1 or 2 bedroom home
- 5 bedroom to a 3 bedroom (or smaller) home

Tennis club that's open for all abilities

by Peter Cordwell

IF you're inspired by Murray and Co at The O2 this week and want to take your own tennis further, pop up Shooters Hill and down Eaglesfield Road.

You'll find a welcome in the hillside at Shooters Hill Lawn Tennis Club.

The club not only prides itself on welcoming all classes and players of mixed abilities, it wins awards for it.

A party from the club went to the recent 75th anniversary dinner of the North Kent Lawn Tennis Association and were stunned to hear that for the first time in those 75 years they were club of the year.

That was on top of the Kent award won in May, which made it one ace after another on anyone's court.

"Twenty of us went along to the do," said membership secretary Caroline Ratcliffe, "and it was all very exciting. We had no idea but obviously ticked all the right boxes. We've got lots of coaches under head coach Phil Layfield - who's also won lots of awards - his assistant Luke House and no fewer 17 tennis leaders from the age of 13."

We were talking in the club's mist-shrouded clubhouse, looking out on the four floodlit courts outside, the whole site leased from Shooters Hill Golf Club.

With 304 members at the last count, 56 up on last year, the club obviously needs to expand and it's good job the younger players are able to use the excellent facilities at the nearby sixth form campus

WHAT A RACQUET: members young and old celebrate Shooters Hill Lawn Tennis Club's award at their courts in Eaglesfield Road in Red Lion Lane. We were struggling until we became a limited company when we had to renew the lease six years ago," said Caroline. "We've got an extremely vibrant 12-strong board of directors, all volunteers, and everyone has a say."

Without bringing Lord Snooty up by name, Caroline did confirm that the club was all about being "inclusive".

She said: "Anybody who plays tennis, at whatever level, can come here. There's always one or two with what I call the 'club mentality' and, with all due respect, we break it down as best we can.

"We have tots from the age of four but, surprisingly, we have very few retired people. All 12 of our directors are working people. The new floodlights are the making of the club and we're getting new members all the time."
